MONSOON SAFETY:

KEEP YOUR AIRPLANE PROTECTED AND SAFE!

While the first month of our annual Summer Monsoon has been pretty tame, large storms are possible from now through mid-September. Obvious hazards include hail, lightning, and high winds, but rain, dust and debris may also damage your aircraft. Here are a few things to check & do to keep you and your aircraft safe:

- Make sure tie-down chains are serviceable & secure when leaving your aircraft.
- When tying down your aircraft, be sure any slack in the chains will not allow the aircraft to move enough to contact anything (covered tie-down supports, storage boxes, etc.).
- Be sure to close all windows & vents. Wing root vents on Cessna aircraft can admit a serious amount of carpet-spoiling rain & harmful clouds of dust.
- Consider a pitot tube cover. Dirt & dust can clog the system causing a failure.
- Install gust locks if so equipped. If not, and the POH allows for it, use your seatbelt to secure the controls.
- Hangar your aircraft if hail is possible. Most FBOs offer nightly hangar rates. This could be a safe haven for aircraft normally parked outside. However, don't wait until the storm is on top of the airport to request this -- FBOs secure their hangars before storms arrive.
- "Police" your area. Be sure that there are no loose objects around your aircraft that may become missiles that will damage your (or someone else's) aircraft. Examples include: drip pans, storage boxes, ladders, trash cans, plastic owls, etc.
- For those owners with hangars, please be sure your hangar is secure. Secure the main & utility doors and turn off and unplug any electric devices.
- Aircraft fueling is discontinued when lightning is in the vicinity of the airport. This may or may not be accompanied by the airport's lightning detection system alarm.

CUTTER AVIATION SUPPORTS ANGEL FLIGHT

Angel Flight West is a nonprofit, volunteer-driven organization that arranges free, non-emergency air travel for children and adults with serious medical conditions and other compelling needs. Their network of 1,900 pilots throughout the West donate their aircraft, piloting skills, & all flying costs to help families in need, enabling them to receive vital treatment that might otherwise be inaccessible because of financial, medical, or geographic limitations.

On Monday, July 27, Todd Underwood of Angel Flight West presented Cutter Aviation DVT with a Certificate of Appreciation. Todd expressed their appreciation and gratitude to the Cutter Team at DVT for our continuing support of the Angel Flight Mission.
